GEO, STARR BOOKS BARNUM IN LONDON

BY CABLE TO THE DISPATOR.) LONDON, June 29 .- [Copyright.]-Your Liverpool correspondent writes that it looks to-day as if the great strike of seafaring men is about to end in favor of the employers. This strike is of international interest. References in the news columns of THE DISPATCH to delays in crossing the Atlantic due to green hands in the furnace rooms of steamships have given a hint of the trouble, but it has been more considerable than any strike that has ever been organized in the trans-Atlantic service before. Passengers coming over on ships now in Liverpool, or who have just sailed for New York, like the Alaska, Britannic and City of Paris, have had sailors and stewards tell them all about it, for every employe on every ship has his mind full of it.

All the employes of the great steamship lines except the officers are concerned in the strike. Wretchedly paid for years, and SUBSIDING MAINLY ON TIPS they get from passengers, the stewards have at last arisen against their bosses and have become spokesmen to the passengers, not

On one side are 5,000 men organized like militia, and marching through the streets of Liverpool to the music of bands, while on the other side the steamship companies are using the old Cunard steamer Atlas as a receiving ship in which to put those men who do not care to risk their living by join-ing the new union. Such men are not al-lowed to land when their ships come in from New York, but are taken on tugs to the Atlas, lying in the Mersey, so that they may not be approached by the strikers— these include sailors, stewards and stokers. The Atlas has harbored so many of these prudent men that after the sailing of the City of Paris, the Britannic and other ships

That is why it is predicted that THE UNION WILL BE DEFEATED. The men say that they have been outwitted. However, they claim that the force on board of the Atlas is recruited from the Liverpool slums and from a raft of Scandinavians that the companies found out of work in Liverpool.

last Wednesday there was still left on board of her 300 men more than had been needed.

The greatest victory of the strikers been in securing the symroyal naval reserve. This is a body of men who have served their seven years in the naval service and are now paid two-pence or threepence a day, as retired men, subject to call to naval duty in case of war, to make a living. Some are coasting guards, some are fishermen, and some are working as sailors, stokers or stewards on big New York steamships. They know what it is to work under the universal rule which gives a man pay enough to buy his clothes and then makes him dependent on the pub-ocean steamships they will at least earn the blessings of our countrymen.

THE STRIKE ON IN GLASGOW.

Your Glasgow correspondent telegraphs that the strike is still in force there also. The attitude of the men is still embodied in the phrase, "No Surrender." The firemen are particularly firm and pretend to be hopeful, though their leaders publicly advised them to-day to accept the terms of their employers. This was after the Amehor line host Evansaria had head at the control of their employers. line boat Furnessia had been delayed more than a week through the inability of the company to get men to load the vessel. The strike in Glasgow reminded one of recent car strikes in New York, so perfectly was it organized, with meeting halls, headquarters, pickets, etc. Yourcorrespondent saw at least 10,000 men gathered arounds cart, in which their speakers were talking. But the importation of men from other parts of the kingdom by the employers' union has broken the backbone of the strike. The men must lose this time

Another and an entirely bigger thing is the strike of the riveters on the Clyde. Many of the shipyards where the most famous ocean racers have been built are semi-paralyzed by this strike, and the end of this uprising cannot yet be told, though appearances indicate that the riveters will gain at least a part of the increase in pay they are

THE FORCE OF HABIT

Causes a Big Englishman to Make Several Very Funny Breaks.

(BY CABLE TO THE DISPATCH.) LONDON, June 29 .- All Englishmen who travel on the Great Western Railway are concerned to hear of the death of John Gibbs Porter at Slough, who had become almost a national character. He was a giant in size, and had a tremendous voice, so that the per-son who saw and heard him once never forgot him. He was once promoted to a station at Reading, but he had been so long at his former place that he couldn't get out of the habit of shouting: "Slough! Change here for Windsor!" and was compelled to go back to the old station. It is stated that when asked the name of one of his children at the baptismal font, he responded: "Slough! Change here for Windsor," and it is a fact that he once shouted his slogan in stentorion tones while asleep in church.

BARNUM TO SHOW IN LONDON.

George O. Starr Finally Signs Contracts for the Moral Circus to Show in Olympin.

(BY CABLE TO THE DISPATCH.) LONDON, June 29 .- At last the original and only Barnum is to bring his great moral show to London. To-day contracts were signed by George O. Starr, as agent for Barnum & Bailey, whereby their circus is to appear in Olympia next October. Olympia is the largest hall in the metropolis. It is situated in West Kensington, the fashable part of London, and is three times the size of Madison Square Garden, with seating capacity for 15,000 people. The circus will not be taken anywhere else in England.

Valuable Bracelet. LONDON, June 29.—Ellen Terry has received another gift to add to the big collection of tokens of royal favor of which she is the proud possessor. The Princess of Wales witnessed on Wednesday, for the fourth time, the fine performance of "Macbeth" at the Lyceum, and afterward presented Miss Terry with a bracelet set in diamonds as a souvenir of the famous performance at Sandringham.

Irving received his present the day after the performance, but the bracelet had to be made specially, which presumably explains the delay. It bears the inscription: "To Ellen Terry, from Alexandria, Princess of LONDON, June 29 .- There is something else beside romance associated with the Thames in the minds of Londoners, and that is filth. By a chemist employed by Council, London has at last discovered a compound which kills the odor of the river without destroying the living organisms that feed upon the sewage in the water, and to a certain extent overcome its noxious

THEIR YACHT WAS SUNK.

But the Painter Brothers and Their Engincer Were All Rescued.

About 5 o'crock last evening Charles and Ed Painter, accompanied by their engineer, started out for a ride in their pleasure yacht Emaline. The party had proceeded down the Allegheny river, and, opposite the foot of Third street they attempted to make a short turn. A towboat was making its way down the river, and one of the waves struck the yacht, overturning and dumping the occupants into the river. The little tugboat Dart happened to be in the vicinity, went to the rescue, and the three men were saved. The yacht sank to the bottom, and last night a craneboat was at work trying to get it up. As all the occu-pants of the yacht were expert swimmers, there was no particular danger of their be a Gas Rearer Blown Off. Grapeville, or East Jeannette, adjoins the town of Jeannette on the P. R. R., 27 miles or 50 minutes' ride from the Union station.

NATURAL GAS FREE

In a City Suburb-Go To-morrow and Hear

The rapid rise of the city of Jeannette from a barren tract of land 10 months ago to a city of 2,500 inhabitants to-day is well known, and can be attributed only to the fact that it is in the greatest natural gas pro-ducing region in the world, and on the best line of railroad in the country. Grapeville is just three-tenthsof a mile east of Jeannette, and as well located in every respect. The Specialty Glass Company, of East Liverpool, Onio, is building and will complete in August a large works, two minutes walk from the Grapeville station, which will applied when we completed a special complete when seemeleted a special complete station and seemeleted as seemelete. employ when completed, 350 people. A large carriage manufactory is about locating, and a mammoth Pottery Company is necotiating for a site. Maxwell, Steven-son & Co., of Philadelphia, are about to commence the erection of a large bottle factory. Every indication points to the set-tlement of some large manufacturing plant on each available site in that neighborhood within the next 60 days. Land of every description is daily changing hands at ad-vanced prices. Manufacturers are seeking the great advantages of that location be-cause the gas wells are the strongest, and gives a man pay enough to buy his clothes and then makes him dependent on the public to get his living out of tips. But all are almost certain to fall together. New unions seldom win their first fights.

It is to the credit of these strikers that they have kept order throughout their demonstrations. They have to fight rich companies and a spirit of conservatism which is as solid as the Chinese wall. Perhaps in time to come they will get what they ask. If they break up or even lessen the outrageous nuisance of "tipping" on ocean steamships they will at least earn the cas, lighting and heating, free of cost to all houses built within one year from date

Arrangements are being made to have

Arrangements are being made to have houses built for purchasers of lots, which may be paid for in small monthly payments. The saving to each householder of the cost of light and heat will pay for a lot in from five to seven years, as it is proposed to furnish them free gas as long as the company is able to produce it on its own lands, which will undoubtedly be for a great many years. This is an opportunity for workingmen, merchants and capitalists. Workingmen will find employment, merchants will have business, and capitalists may build and sell their houses on time at a profit, or rent the same. The gift of free gas will be a gain of from 2 to 5 per cent on investments. Grocers, butchers, bakers, plumbers and other tradesmen will be wanted by August 15 to supply the community that will be settled supply the community that will be settled there by that date. A hotel or large board-ing house is wanted to take care of the single men, of which a large number is employed.
